

OPERATION BLESSING INTL. ARRIVES IN DEVASTATED JOPLIN FOR TORNADO RELIEF

Volunteers Needed For Cleanup Efforts Beginning Friday

VIRGINIA BEACH, VA (May 27, 2011) – The Virginia Beach-based humanitarian organization Operation Blessing International (OBI) has arrived in Joplin, MO for tornado relief efforts. Bill Horan, president of Operation Blessing International, made the announcement today.

The charity's domestic disaster relief team, under the direction of Jody Herrington-Gettys, arrived on Wednesday and set up a base of operations at The Bridge, a Joplin youth ministry (3405 S. Hammons Blvd.). Here, OBI staff are partnering with The Bridge distributing relief supplies, coordinating volunteers and accepting work order requests from local homeowners.

The charity has also set up a work order intake station at the FEMA Disaster Relief Center to accept work orders from residents whose homes were damaged by the tornado.

The charity has already delivered three trailer-truckloads containing over 90,000 pounds of ready-to-eat meals, drinks, canned foods, pasta and hygiene items that are being distributed by hundreds of teen volunteers at The Bridge.

OBI is also transporting a caravan of equipment from Birmingham, Alabama, where it has spent the last several weeks helping local residents recover from the tornadoes that struck there late April. The convoy includes a CAT924 front end loader, 20-ton crane, skid steer, 2 construction and clean-up trailers packed with tools and volunteer supplies, the OBI Mobile Command Center, a mobile kitchen that is capable of serving thousands of hot meals per day, and a box truck full of cots and volunteer housing supplies.

“As we drove into Joplin, the scenes of destruction were unimaginable,” said Jody Herrington-Gettys. “But once we saw how the faith-based community here has rallied together to help those in need, our spirits soared. Hundreds of volunteers are providing comfort to local residents who have lost everything, not only through relief supplies, but also through sharing love and hope.”
