Operation Blessing International Deploying U.S. Disaster Relief Team To San Marcos, TX

VIRGINIA BEACH, VA (May 27, 2015) – Operation Blessing International’s U.S. Disaster Relief team is deploying to San Marcos, TX to help following historic flooding of the Blanco River.

An advance team led by Dan Moore, director of U.S. disaster relief for the organization, departed from Norfolk this morning and will arrive mid-day. They will meet with local emergency management officials and expect to coordinate a volunteer effort starting tomorrow (Thursday).

Operation Blessing has deployed its mobile command center from the Chesapeake warehouse, a construction trailer from Ocala, FL, and volunteer supplies will be sent from the charity’s Dallas warehouse where they are kept pre-staged for disaster response in the region.

For anyone wishing to donate to the relief efforts in San Marcos, TX, please log on to www.ob.org.
